HANDLIST
OF THE PHOTOGRAPH COLLECTION
OF THE

CHINA INLAND MISSION

The Library
School of Oriental and African Studies

August 1993
The photographs in this collection number over 7,000 and are from three different sources. The first is Frederick Howard Taylor, James Hudson Taylor’s son, who collected particularly photographs associated with his father’s early life in England, some of which he himself took in the early 1900’s.

The second source is the official records of the China Inland Mission/Overseas Missionary Fellowship. These include albums (CIM/PHOTO 2/298-305) and loose photographs (CIM/PHOTO 2/306-372), often produced for special occasions, and a series of photographs collected from missionaries working in the field and arranged under subject headings (CIM/PHOTO 2/1-197). These include medical work and scenes of everyday life in China, Taiwan, Thailand and Tibet. The medical work is mostly concentrated in photographs 248-295.

The third source is the records kept by A.J. Broomhall, the mission’s historian, to facilitate and illustrate his research into the work of Taylor. These photographs are very varied, dating back to the 1860’s, and include original photographs of the ‘Lammermuir’ party and also some of the missionaries who preceded it to China. There are many duplicates in this section, which is divided into two, general photographs and those selected for use in A.J. Broomhall’s work, Hudson Taylor for and China’s Open Century.

Although this is the main CIM photograph collection in SOAS, there are further photographs in CIM/PP LIBERTY, CIM/PP WITHERS and CIM/PP FHT NOTES. An index to this collection may be found at the end of this volume.
